A view on use

Fire panels are to be operated by qualified Emergency Response Officers and Firefighters. Control panels may be operated by authorized persons. Digital panels feature a specific manual.

A view on maintenance

A Pneuman panel is almost entirely composed of maintenance-free components. For cleaning and inspection observe the following rules to ensure a long life. Use a soft damp cloth, possibly with a mild detergent to clean the front and the housing. Do not use solvents or abrasives.

A suitable glass cleaner may be used on the window (with vandal-resistant and outdoor panels). Only qualified technicians should perform maintenance and inspection of power lines, electrical components and internal wiring. Recommended ventilation and drainage grates (if applicable) to clean semi-annually. The required maintenance can be performed by the end user.

The thermostat and heating operation should be checked annually by a qualified technician.
